

Social Media Top Tips to keep your children safe

Unfortunately our teens are constantly under threat from adults on the internet with unsavoury intentions..

- Teenagers should their set their birth date to show they are in their 30's – this makes them less of a teen target.
 - Turn location settings to 'off' on their phones – too many people can see where they are.
 - Change passwords regularly.
 - Taking, holding or sending a nude photo of an under 18 is against the law.
 - Even if they delete something like a nude - it still exists in cyberspace.
 - If your child experiences problems through social media use encourage them to approach their Head of House – don't panic in silence.
 - Cyber bullying is harassment and comes in many forms – encourage your child to report it.
 - Get them to google themselves – remind them that their grandparents can do this too!
