

Autumn Term 14 of September

First Impressions

As I stepped off the bus at Wingleye Lane I was so eager to arrive at school, that I wanted to run all the way, but a steady stream of children and a very heavy satchel made this impossible.

But after a twenty minute walk I entered the school playground. (There were groups of children) (dotted over the playground) who were eagerly discussing what they had been doing in the holidays. I soon discovered what my friends had been doing in the past six weeks, and then we turned our attention to the school.

It was very different from the old school. We saw that the school had three stories, and the corridor, which looked out onto the playground had large windows. ~~which~~ When we had assembled the five new forms went to the assembly hall, while the rest of the school filed into their new forms rooms.

The thing that struck me most was the modern colouring of the rooms and corridors; our form room ~~about~~ was on the second floor, it had a roller blackboard and large windows and a number of new desks. After putting our books in our desks we went to assembly in the large hall of which one of the walls is made completely of glass. Follow-
