

ON CROFT COOK

I chose this design as it represents the nightlife in a big city like London. The dancers are a couple out who are going through Shakalpa's Square when they see a girl composing music and start to dance along. It is set at twilight as that is when most good ideas come to composers and it is when the nightlife begins.

I zoomed in to the girl playing guitar as she represents that music is important in anyone's life. It sets a nice and steady pace for you to work at and music constantly makes life easier and things you this unexplainable warmth when listened to.
